

Dear All,
I have decided to go home. I have had a great time but I am missing my mum. Before I return I have promised myself one last trip. Guess where I'm off to? Some clues for you: it's a place with lots of famous characters, including two mice whose names begins with 'm'; it is in a state called Florida.

After a visit to this place I am going to spend a day or so on the beach. I have had a fantastic time in this country, I have seen lots of places and met loads of people. I would love to know more about you and where you come from.

Will you write to me?

All my love,

Bear
