

Dear All,
I was having a really good time, until someone told me bears weren't allowed here. I don't understand why not - I wouldn't hurt anyone.

Anyway, the views from the rim of the Grand Canyon are terrific. It is over 2000 metres above sea level here.

My mum would like it. I am beginning to miss her. I do hope she is not worrying about me - you know what mums can be like! I had better send her a postcard.

I have met a new friend who told me not to bother about people who say bears aren't allowed. He is a native American and lives on a reservation.

All my love,

Bear
