

Dear All,
I just love this place! It is America's first and oldest National Park. Today I saw lots of elk, like this one in the picture. I tiptoed past it so that I wouldn't scare it away. Earlier I saw a black bear - I didn't go near it as I was told that they are not as friendly as me! I would really like to see a grizzly bear, although I think I would be a bit scared.

Yellowstone is a wonderful place. Some parts of the park are really strange, with hot springs and geysers. Tomorrow I am going to see Old Faithful. It is a geyser, which every hour or so shoots boiling water 55m into the air.

This is a fantastic adventure!

All my love,

Bear
